ENTERED according to Act of Parliament of Canada in the year 1888, by A. PERIARD, in the Office of the Minister of Agriculture and Statistics, at Ottawa.

PREFACE.

THE second edition of my Reference Book is intended as a key to the public and private Statutes of the Dominion Parliament and of the Canadian Legislatures. It also contains information respecting all Orders in Council contained in the Statute books and lists of Joint Stock Companies incorporated by letters patent.

All criminal offences are clearly and specially set forth.

The different Statutes or Orders in Council referring to each particular title are first mentioned alphabetically and when they are of any special interest, details are given.

In view of the importance of the subject, the greatest care has been taken to ensure the utmost accuracy, so as to save long and embarrassing researches.

A strong feeling has been developed throughout the Canadian Provinces, aiming at a closer mutual communication which will make them better acquainted with their respective habits, customs and peculiarities.

The necessity of increased interprovincial intercourse renders it every day more apparent that professional, as well as political men, and men in business, should possess a correct knowledge not only of the particular laws affecting their own immediate circle, but also of the legislation governing all those with whom they have commercial, political, or professional dealings. A bridge, so to speak, must therefore be built and a common highway found composed of such elements as will secure ample communication and absence of undue friction, or unnecessary quarrels.

Am I guilty of presumption in entertaining the hope that my humble book which supplies the key to the parliamentary life of Canada and which reflects, as it were, the true, if varied, physiognomy of all parts of our beloved country, may be of some service in attaining that aim ? If it really proves a sure guide through the intricacies of Canadian jurisprudence, finding at once a clue to the various ways in which matters have been treated by the people's representatives, will it not ultimately lead to a better knowledge of our statutory laws, the expression of the intelligent wants of the population for whose benefit they have been enacted ?

It may here be said that the consolidation of what are termed "Private Acts," would be a powerful factor in bringing about a better understanding between the different Canadian Provinces. Our public Statutes have just been ably consolidated and are now of immense service to the community ; but they must be accompanied by the revision of private legislation which considerably occupies the time and attention of Parliament at every session.

It is obvious that in nearly all these "private" Statutes, vast interests are at stake, involving not only a particular class of individuals, but also a large portion of the community which they often more directly affect than many of the Public Acts.

Take for example, the Statutes relating to our various railway, navigation, bank, insurance and telegraph companies, or to religious, scientific, literary, benevolent, charitable and industrial corporations. Surely none will deny but that it would be in the public interest were easy means afforded to ascertain exactly the privileges and immunities, the advantages and inconveniences, the duties and obligations accruing to or from each of these institutions ! Would not the community at large be benefitted by a ready access to such information ?

It is well known that the original charters or acts of incorporation, of many, if not of all these corporations, have been so often altered, or are of such ancient date, that the shareholders, or members themselves stand in the dark as to their exact position at the present time.

The general interest requires therefore that light be thrown into this chaotic state of things and consolidation alone will afford the required light.

To the Dominion Parliament belongs the honor of inaugurating the movement. They will deserve the thanks of the community for their prompt action, the beneficial results of which will compensate a thousand times for the cost of the enterprise.

In conclusion, I must claim the indulgence of my readers, should they meet with some inaccuracies in my book. Howsoever careful one may be, omissions and sometimes errors will inevitably creep in, when such a mass of figures has to be dealt with. I can only trust they will be so few and so unimportant as not to materially detract from the general usefulness of the work.

Whereas certain misguided persons did, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, in that part of our Dominion known as the North-West Territories of Our Dominion of Canada, oppose Our authority, and, contrary to their allegiance did levy war against us, and commit divers other acts whereby they became guilty of high treason and treason-felony against Our Crown and dignity.

United States, goods in transit through, Ca., 1834, p. xii.

Regulations for the transportation of goods in transit through the United States, approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council, on the 4th Day of December, 1884.

1. Goods of domestic origin, duty paid or free of duty, may be transported from one port to another of Canada over the territory of the United States, with the consent of the proper United States authorities, by routes duly designated and bonded for such purpose.

Cars must be specially appropriated for such transportation, placed under Customs lock and sealed by an officer of the Customs at the port of departure in Canada, and remain thus fastened and sealed until they shall have passed through such foreign territory and again arrived in Canada, when all goods of domestic origin, duty paid or free, may be released from further Customs surveillance.

Railroad iron, sugar and molasses in hogsheads, and all other merchandise in bulk which is incapable of being put in locked cars, may be transported on platform cars duly corded and sealed.

2. Imported goods in bond may be transported in like manner, under the usual transportation entry and bond.

3. The owner or shipper must, before the merchandise is laden, present to the Collector at the port of departure manifests, in triplicate, for each car, subscribed by the proper agent of the railroad or other company, which shall be prepared by the said company at the port of departure, and shall contain a particular description of the merchandise, by packages, marks, numbers and contents; the ports of destination, to whom consigned, and the route over which the transportation is to be made, distinguishing articles that are of native from those of foreign growth, production of manufacture, and those free of duty or duty paid, from goods in bond subject to duty. The manifest shall be in the following form :—

" (Seal) Collector."

4. The Landing Waiter charged with the lading and sealing of cars shall see that manifests are provided for each car, and that they are correct by an actual comparison with the lading.

He shall then seal the car, certify each of the triplicate manifests, deliver one to the conductor of the car, and immediately return the other two to the Custom House.

One of such manifests shall be filed at the Custom House, and the other verified by the signature and official seal of the Collector, forwarded by the first mail to the Collector at the Port of Entry where the car is expected to re-enter Canada ;
 care will be taken to score with lines the blank portion of each manifest, so that no additional articles can be interpolated after signing.

5. On arrival at the frontier port of exit from Canada, the manifest accompanying the car shall be presented to the Collector, who shall cause the fastenings and seals of the car to be examined, and if they appear intact he shall so certify, with the date on the manifest, and return the same to the Conductor.

6. On arrival at the first port in Canada after the transit, a careful examination must be made of the seals and other fastenings, and the seals having been removed the contents of the cars shall be unladen and carefully compared with the manifest received from the port of departure, as well as with the copy accompanying the goods, except as hereinafter provided.

If the car arrive at such port before the manifest sent by mail, the contents of the car will be compared with the manifest accompanying it, and that manifest with the copy subsequently received by mail.

If found correct, the merchandise will, if in bond, be forwarded to its destination to be re-warehoused in like manner as other goods transported in bond—or if not in bond, delivered to the consignee. The officer who compares the manifest with the merchandise will certify the result on the back of one of the manifests, and the Collector will return the other, with a similar certificate, to the Collector from whom it issued.

If the merchandise does not correspond with the manifest, if the seals be lost or broken, or if the packages, cars or seals appear to have been tampered with, the goods will be detained, if the circumstances justify it, for seizure and condemnation. In ordinary cases a comparison by marks and numbers will be sufficient, but if there be any well-grounded suspicion of fraud, the examination will extend to the contents of packages.

7. Cars may pass to a port of destination, not on the frontier without being unladen or opened, if a careful examination at the frontier port, of the seals or locks by which the cars are secured show them to be intact; if otherwise, or if any such cars be found without proper seals or locks, they will be detained and reported to the Commissioner of Customs for instructions.
